

We understand how hard it can be for you when someone you know is incarcerated.

Keeping your relationship alive, making sure your kid's continue to have a mommy and daddy to talk to about everyday things and keeping alive life-long friendships are all tough to do when a family member or friend is incarcerated.

We know that communication between our inmates and their friends and family members helps them get through their time inside the walls and helps assure they do not become repeat offenders. Understanding this, we provide you with as many ways as possible to stay in touch.

Unfortunately, because of security reasons, calls coming into any correctional facility are not permitted. Inmates must schedule each of their calls or hope someone is at home when their call is placed.

We know that life doesn't fit into a tidy schedule. You're not always where you need to be when someone calls. This causes many inmates and friends and family members to miss out on that vital call. In order to assure you always have a way to stay in touch, we provide SECURUS' Messaging program. This program allows you to leave a voice mail message whenever you want and get a reply back from any participating inmate in our facility.

Take a look inside to see how you can join the program.

IT HAPPENS EVERYDAY

Melinda has no idea how to pay the bills. Ever since her husband Tim, was arrested she has no one to help.

It's Tammy's birthday and her five year old daughter Louisa wants to make sure she gets her very special message to her mommy.

Jerome's lawyer wants to make sure Jerome is ready for his upcoming court date.

Alejandra's daughter has fallen and requires emergency treatment. Grandma wants to provide up to the minute updates on Alejandra's daughter's condition.

All of these cases are real life stories that happen every day. In each case, friends, attorney's and family members were able to make contact and receive a reply because they could leave each other on-the-spot messages.
